

We generally understand in a hiking holiday an easier, less strenuous kind of trip which is suitable even for people with not so much hiking experience and less physical condition. For a trekking holiday you should be fit enough for daily treks of several hours duration with more high differences and bring some experience with you .

Our guided holidays provide excellent guiding from our experienced, local guides. These guides live in their area for several years and can show you the most interesting places and give you insider tips. Of course they are in close contact with the local people, this will give you opportunities to have unforgettable insights in the authentically Greek Life. If you should have any problems or special wishes, even in case of emergency your guide can communicate your needs to the locals and get it solved.

In a self-guided holiday you will travel and hike very independent. Some trips include local transfers and luggage transfers, most of our self-guided trips include a rental car. With the car you will drive from the airport to the hotel and to the start of the daily walks. You will receive detailed information about driving directions from the airport and about the hiking routes, most of them with photographs of the main points during your walk. A local representative is always available for further information and any help you could need.
